

The Boys and Girls Club of America:

The Boys and Girls club can be found in areas all around the world. It helps children of all ages to enhance their development and help them to reach their potentials as adults. Children who need this club the most are all welcome and also children who are doing fine, but may need some guidance along the way of their lives. This organization is similar to Child Life Specialists because they both help children to grow academically and for when the children are in need.

St. Jude's:

St. Jude's is an medical research center to try to find cures for cancers and other catastrophic diseases in children. There children get the treatment they need with the sickness they have. There are doctors, specialists, and nurses there to help make there stay and journey a little better on the way. It is similar to Avera's Child Life Specialist because they worry and care for the children who come in and also they help educate and inform the families that come in and need help.

Children's Home Society of South Dakota:

The Children's Home Society provides many things for children in need of home or care. It supports them as they grow into adults. It guides them down the right and safe paths in life. It shows kids that life isn't so scary as it seems. This is similar to what Child Life Specialists do because they help children and their families not be so scared. The Children's Home Society does just that in a different setting.
